Ike's Resolution Wins Test

House Decides 262-146 To Bar Amendments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (P)—President Eisenhower's "Middle East resolution" won a major test in the House today when the chamber voted 262-146 to bar any amendments to it.

"With this 'closed rule' established, chances appeared bright for quick approval of the President's request for stand-by authority to use U.S. armed forces in the Middle East if necessary to thwart Communist aggression.

"I think the resolution will pass by a large majority," House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said. Then it will be the Senate's turn to act.

Policy Review Voted

Just before the House began debating the resolution, two powerful Senate committees voted to review the entire postwar policy of the United States in the Middle East. However, leaders do not plan to hold up the Eisenhower resolution pending this review.

Rayburn announced the House would be ready to vote on the Eisenhower program tomorrow. In addition to its military clause, the resolution would authorize the President to launch a 200-million-dollar economic aid program this year in the strategic area.

Several Republican as well as Democratic members of the House denounced the ban on amendments as "gag rule," but House leaders contended the resolution was too vital to the national interest to open it up to a free-for-all amendment process.

Martin's Argument

Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) told the House that rejection of Eisenhower's program "might well precipitate the war we all seek to avoid."

The Republican leader said the Eisenhower resolution "simply outlines, so there can be no misunderstanding, that if the Soviets attack the free nations of the Middle East they might well expect to face the U.S. armed forces."

The review of U.S. policy toward the Arab nations and the new state of Israel was ordered by the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. The vote at their joint meeting was unanimous—30-0. The review is to cover the past 11 years.

Missing Coed Located In D. C.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (P)—Barbara Agler, 20, University of Michigan coed who disappeared Jan. 16, was located here today.

Police said the girl was in "fine shape," but that she had no desire to return to either her home in Susquehanna, Pa., or to the university.

They quoted her as saying "I want to stay here in Washington."

Test A-Shots From Balloons Planned

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 29 (P)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today it plans to use anchored balloons as detonation platforms for nuclear devices. The AEC said it will start a series of tests at dawn tomorrow over the Nevada desert seeking to determine feasibility of the plan.

Tests shots so far have been air drops, tower shots, and surface and underground detonations.

French Airliner Crashes But All 70 Aboard Saved

PARIS, Jan. 29 (P)—A French airliner from Tunis crash-landed in dense fog at Orly Field tonight but all 70 aboard were saved by heroic rescue efforts.

One engine skittered away in flames and this helped spare them from fiery death.

Smoke Pours From Ship After Blast

Shown is the aft end of the Marine Transport Company's tanker Jeanny after boiler room explosions yesterday killed seven workmen and injured 50 at Alameda, Calif. Several men were hurled into the Oakland estuary. Rescue work is shown in progress.

7 Dead, 50 Hurt In Tanker Blast

Explosions Shatter Boiler Room

ALAMEDA, Calif., Jan. 29 (P)—Three explosions in the boiler room of the tanker Jeanny today killed seven workmen and injured about 50.

Seven bodies and one critically injured survivor were removed from the shattered boiler room where early reports had estimated 15 to 20 men might have been trapped.

Searchers said they could find no more bodies there, and no one else alive.

The explosion occurred at the Todd shipyards on the Oakland estuary.

The Jeanny, a surplus tanker, had just been taken out of mothballs to be refitted for transporting oil to Europe during the Middle East petroleum crisis.

She is owned by the government, was built at Philadelphia in 1945 and was chartered by the Marine Transport Assn.

The first body recovered was identified as that of Frank R. Souza, 44, Carmichael, Calif.

The injured were taken to Oakland hospitals.

A tremendous explosion followed by two smaller ones blew out some superstructure at the stern of the 10,296-ton tanker. The first that followed raged out of control two hours.

County, Coast Guard and naval authorities mobilized quickly.

The Oakland fire boat helped quench flames that started in the shipyard.

Helicopters from the Alameda Naval Air Station searched the water for bodies.

More than 20 ambulances took injured to the Alameda Naval Air Station dispensary and Oakland hospitals. The tube under Oakland estuary between Alameda and downtown Oakland was closed to all except emergency and ambulance traffic.

A crew working with acetylene torches cut through the side of the ship into the boiler room but found only the one critically burned man.

Authorities had no official explanation for the explosion.

Dulles Praised By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (P)—President Eisenhower paid a surprise informal visit to Capitol Hill today and praised Secretary of State Dulles for "doing a terrific job" in handling the nation's foreign policy.

Eisenhower's remarks, relayed to newsmen by Sen. Bridges (R-NH), appeared to be a White House move to reassert administration confidence in Dulles. Democrats have been heaping criticism on him.

Dulles' aides had predicted the Eisenhower-led counterattack to a newsmen hour in advance. However, Bridges said the luncheon was not arranged to give Eisenhower an opportunity to defend Dulles.

Eisenhower lauded Dulles at a luncheon attended by 44 persons including Republican congressional leaders, Vice President Nixon and legislative aides.

The visit was the first such informal call the President has made since becoming President. It came at a time when the Senate was preparing to undertake a sweeping review of Middle East foreign policy.

Car Crash Result Of Biting Orange

LOGAN, W. Va., Jan. 29 (P)—Mrs. Ruby Brown didn't know the orange was loaded.

Here's what happened at nearby Phico yesterday when she bit into one as she was riding in a car driven by Henry Meadows:

The juice squirted into Meadows' eyes, he lost control of the car and it smashed into a railroad car. Mrs. Brown, 55, suffered bad face cuts and broke her hearing aid and glasses. Meadows, 34, had a broken foot.

U.S. Vulnerability To Air Attack Increasing, Demos Say

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (P)—Democrats on a special Senate Air Force subcommittee said today this country's vulnerability to a surprise Russian air attack is increasing steadily. But the Republicans called this "unduly pessimistic."

The three-member Democratic majority made a sweeping condemnation of Eisenhower administration policies in the airpower field in reporting on a lengthy investigation conducted last year.

Among other things, they said Russia has gone ahead of this country in numbers of modern combat aircraft and "the Soviets are rapidly closing the qualitative gap" that the United States still maintains.

Saud, Snubbed By New York, Addresses U.N.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (P)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrived on a state visit to the United States today with full fanfares from the U.S. government and the United Nations but with an official snub from New York City.

A rumbling 21-gun naval salute in New York Harbor emphasized the importance Washington puts on the Middle East monarch's call. The United Nations opened its huge General Assembly hall for a personal address by the King.

But Mayor Robert F. Wagner refused to stage the usual gala New York City ceremony for visiting luminaries. He dismissed the multimillion-dollar monarch as anti-Jewish, anti-Catholic and pro-slavery.

Israel, France Stay Away

The welcome was not unanimous in the U.N.

Israel and France boycotted the King's address. The French stayed away because of Saudi Arabia's action breaking off diplomatic relations with the Mollet government over the Middle East situation.

King Saud issued a formal statement to the U.S. government saying he hoped his visit would strengthen relations between the two countries. He referred to President Eisenhower as his "great friend."

King To Meet With Ike

After entering the General Assembly door reserved only for chiefs of state, the King said present world tensions arise from "the policies of domination by force."

He pledged Saudi Arabia to the principles of the U.N. Charter and said:

"We stand on moral principles, on the freedom and dignity of human beings, on cooperation among the freedom loving peoples."

King Saud will fly to Washington tomorrow, accompanied by his party of about 70, where he will be met personally by President Eisenhower.

7 Dead In Plane Crash

VILLAVICENCIO, Colombia, Jan. 29 (P)—A Colombia air force plane crashed and burned on take-off near here last night, killing all seven aboard including Brig. Gen. Gustavo Sierra Ochoa.

Arabs Charge Israel Course Leads To War

Canada Suggests 'Middle' Approach Might Solve Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 29 (P)—An Arab leader, Fadel Jamali of Iraq, told the U.N. Assembly today that Israel's continued defiance of its requests to evacuate Egypt will mean war in the Middle East. He said it might involve the whole world eventually, and called for strong action to prevent it.

Shortly after he spoke, Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson of Canada suggested what he called a "middle road" approach to a settlement. Pearson agreed that a continuation of the deadlock might threaten peace. He demanded that Israel leave Egypt.

Russia Backs Arabs

The chief Soviet spokesman, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, supported Arab demands for immediate withdrawal of Israel. He assailed suggestions by U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., that the U.N. Emergency Force in Egypt move into the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area when the Israelis leave. Kuznetsov called this a "new plan of intervention into the internal affairs of Egypt."

Jamali, who has been an outspoken opponent of Israel since its creation, reviewed what he called the record of Israeli assaults on Arabs. He said Israel invaded Egypt three months ago today despite the fact that Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion had just stated Israel never would start a war.

'Crocodile Tears'

He said Israel obtained support from the Zionist organizations and obtained arms without cost from France, which he called an open ally of Israel. He charged Israel with shedding "crocodile tears" over the Arab refugees and the residents of Gaza. The sooner Israel recognizes the rights of the Arabs, he said, the sooner there will be peace.

Referring to repeated Assembly requests for Israel to withdraw from Egypt, Jamali said "if Israel does not heed this body, we are headed for another war in the Middle East." That war, he said, would probably "involve the whole world."

Union Cleanup Drive Pushed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29 (P)—The AFL-CIO drove ahead today with a campaign to rid its union ranks of corruption and safeguard union funds.

The federation's Ethical Practices Committee submitted to the AFL-CIO Executive Council three codes of standards designed to keep union officers on the straight and narrow path.

The proposed codes were not made public pending council approval expected later this week. But one was understood to outline in detail strict rules of conduct for union officers.

Another of the drafted codes was reported to establish standards for administering union welfare funds and the third to prohibit union leaders from having private interests in industries where their union holds collective bargaining contracts.

Officials said the latter code once adopted could be applied to Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, and to James R. Hoffa, teamsters vice president in charge of the union's Midwest operation. They said both Beck and Hoffa reportedly have private trucking business connections.

The FBI said in Baltimore it was investigating the incident. Agents said Arquilla may have violated a federal law covering attempted escape.

The prisoners were all handcuffed, but for lunch one hand was released while the other remained manacled to a waist chain.

Arquilla and his two companions were arrested in Minneapolis last Thursday. They were taken to Baltimore after landing here.

Spy Ring Probe Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (P)—A special federal grand jury was sworn today to investigate an alleged spy ring that sought American defense secrets for Russia.

Many of the charges made in the majority report have been aired previously by Symington and Jackson in speeches and statements.

The Democrats' charge about the growing danger from a surprise Soviet blow covered a period when both parties have had responsibility for the nation's defense.

It said "the vulnerability of the United States to sudden attack has increased greatly during the past decade and this vulnerability will continue to increase in the foreseeable future."

Yugos Hint Tito Won't Visit U.S.

Official Press Notes Protests Against Trip

BELGRADE, Jan. 29 (P)—Yugoslavia's official press hinted strongly tonight that President Tito will not go to the United States in the face of anti-Tito sentiment.

The government-controlled newspaper Borba published an article by its foreign editor, who usually presents Tito's personal views.

The editor said a Washington visit "was losing all practical sense for the Yugoslavs" in view of the anti-Tito campaign.

Usually well informed sources here said Borba's stand did not necessarily mean Tito would turn down an invitation from President Eisenhower when and if it should arrive.

Agreement Reported

But they said the hostility campaign had made a Tito visit to Washington at least questionable.

A visit by Tito was reported here to have been agreed on in principle, with no dates set.

There has been no announcement that Eisenhower had actually invited Tito. Eisenhower has been under powerful congressional pressure not to issue an invitation or to withdraw one if it has been made in any form.

The Borba article stressed, however, that "the proposal for such a visit was sent by the U.S. government."

Quoting Washington news dispatches, Borba said there had been a suggestion that a Tito visit should be timed when Congress was in Easter recess.

British Visit Recalled

"According to this report," Borba said, "it would thus be possible to avoid a situation in which the (Yugoslav) President would be invited to address Congress or be shown the attention which Congress usually accords the head of a state when he pays a visit."

Informants here pointed out that a proposed visit by Tito to Britain in 1953 was greeted with criticism in some British quarters. Tito then openly stated he would cancel his trip "if his critics in Britain represented the general feeling."

Finally he went to London. In Washington, sponsors of a petition protesting a Tito visit, said nearly 100 congressmen have signed it. Addressed to President Eisenhower, it asks him not to invite Tito or, if he already has, to reconsider the invitation.

Confession In Girls' Deaths Questioned

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (P)—Inquest disclosures today cast doubts on a Skid Row drifter's elaborate 14-page confession that he and a companion had slain the teen-age Grimes sisters.

Authorities said medical evidence indicated that Patricia Grimes, 13, and her sister, Barbara, 15, whose nude bodies were found in a snowbank southeast of Chicago Jan. 22, may have died within hours after they disappeared Dec. 28.

A statement signed by Edward Lee (Bennie) Bedwell, 21, a part-time dishwasher, related that he and a pal named "Frank" had killed the girls Jan. 13 after a week of drinking with them in Skid Row bars and living with them in cheap hotels.

Police identified him as Roy Soderquist, 23, whose mother said the Air Force rejected him last fall.

The plane nosed over on landing. Two patrolmen who found him still in the cockpit said "all he did was smile."

When they put him into a police car, James Maddox and Keith Townsend reported, Soderquist went into convulsions from shock. He had no visible injuries. He was hospitalized.

The patrolmen said they found two guns in the plane. They said Soderquist told them there still was some gas in the craft's tank.

Before the landing, police said they were being swamped with calls from persons who had become "hysterical" as the plane zoomed and circled the city at low altitudes. Some even pleaded with them to "shoot it down," they added.

James Dolezal, flying instructor for the American Aviation Co., said he was preparing to take Soderquist up for a lesson when the student pilot forced him from the plane at gunpoint and took off.

The fantastic flight was marked by mounting tension as the red, single-engine (Cessna) craft seemed to narrowly miss downtown buildings, hospitals, schools and the Iowa State House itself.

Schools were warned of the danger. Traffic clogged as motorists double-parked to get out and crane their necks. Police broadcast pleas that lanes be kept open if ambulances should need to get through.

At Least Two Dead; Many Flee Homes

Areas In Kentucky, West Virginia And Virginia Stricken

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., Jan. 29 (P)—Flood-ravaged streams and rivers swept portions of Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia today, claiming two and possibly three lives and forcing hundreds of persons to flee their homes.

Police at Harlan, Ky., said an unidentified elderly man was swept away when his house at Rosspoint, Ky., crumbled into Poor Fork of the Cumberland River.

A 7-year-old boy on his way to school near Logan, W.Va., fell from a foot bridge and drowned in a creek.

Hundreds of persons evacuated their homes in the three-state area as the swollen streams, powered by three days of rain, went on a rampage described by Army engineers as possibly the worst on record in the area.

One of the hardest hit communities was Pound in Wise County, southwest Virginia, which was virtually inundated by the Pound River, forcing most of 1,200 residents to evacuate.

Other Virginia towns affected included Coeburn, Gate City and Clintwood.

The counties of Logan, McDowell, Mercer and Mingo along West Virginia's southern border bore the brunt of high waters from the Tug and Guyandotte rivers and smaller streams.

Fast rising Brush Creek forced 15 to 20 families to leave their homes in Princeton, W.Va.

High waters and landslide cut off many communities in the three states from aid.

The Cumberland River was doing the most damage in Kentucky where Gov. A. B. Chandler sent National Guard troops into stricken areas. Soldiers from Ft. Knox, Ky., near Louisville, also were en route to Corbin, in the heart of the coal-mining region.

Disaster Area Proclaimed

A disaster area proclaimed by the Red Cross included Corbin, Harlan, Whitesburg, Barbourville, Jackson, Hazard and other southeastern Kentucky communities. Chandler said the state would furnish commodities, bedding and other essentials to evacuees.

A steady downpour of rain continued in some sections. Others reported intermittent rainfall.

Railroad and bus transportation ground to a halt as high waters and landslides blocked track and roads, frustrating some attempts to send in nurses, doctors and medical aid.

At Big Stone Gap, Va., Mayor J. E. Body proclaimed a state of emergency.

At Jackson, in Breathitt County, Ky., several houses were washed away by the Kentucky River which piled three of them against a bridge.

End To American Motors Strike Voted

KENOSHA, Wis., Jan. 29 (P)—A spokesman for the United Auto Workers said tonight that members of striking Local 72 had voted to return to work at the American Motors Corp. assembly plant here. The strike, that began a week ago today, had idled 6,500 workers here and in Milwaukee.

Student Pilot Steals Plane, Buzzes City, Crash-Lands

DES MOINES, Jan. 29 (P)—A student pilot who had never flown alone stole a plane at gunpoint and buzzed this city for four suspenseful hours today before crash-landing on a rural road.

Police identified him as Roy Soderquist, 23, whose mother said the Air Force rejected him last fall.

The plane nosed over on landing. Two patrolmen who found him still in the cockpit said "all he did was smile."

When they put him into a police car, James Maddox and Keith Townsend reported, Soderquist went into convulsions from shock. He had no visible injuries. He was hospitalized.

The patrolmen said they found two guns in the plane. They said Soderquist told them there still was some gas in the craft's tank.

Before the landing, police said they were being swamped with calls from persons who had become "hysterical" as the plane zoomed and circled the city at low altitudes. Some even pleaded

Mansfield Attacks, Knowland Defends Ike Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) attacked President Eisenhower's foreign policy on the Senate floor today and said a global plan must replace the administration's "isolated internationalism."

Mansfield concentrated much of his fire on Eisenhower's military-economic program for the Middle East, which Congress has been asked to endorse.

All through the 1956 election campaign, Mansfield said, the administration permitted the dangers in the Middle East "to fester in the warm promises of peace and the noninvolvement of the United States."

He used the term "isolated internationalism" to describe what he pictured as a policy of sympathizing with foreign problems but not doing anything effective about them.

Now, the senator continued, the country is paying the "cumulative price of inaction, of empty campaign slogans of peace where there was no peace."

The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, rose to defend the administration's foreign policy record and appeal to the Senate not to "tie the hands of the President."

Knowland said he was astonished at Democratic criticism that Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles did not foresee every event that would take place in the Middle East.

He said in effect that former President Truman, a Democrat, didn't work with any crystal ball either.

Mansfield is the Democratic whip in the Senate. His address, which held a large audience of senators, drew immediate congratulations from Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader.

Johnson said Mansfield had outlined a policy of "responsible opposition" and had dealt in terms of "constructive alternatives" rather than in bare partisanship.

Lone Gunman Robs Bank Of $33,500

ATCO, N.J., Jan. 29 (AP)—A lone gunman held up the Atco National Bank today and escaped with $33,500.

The bandit, described as a Negro with a goatee, entered the establishment in southeast Camden County with the bank janitor as his hostage.

The janitor, Mrs. Myrtle Mobley, had been burning some papers outside the front door when she was approached by the man who forced her at pistol point to accompany him inside the bank.

He then said, according to bank cashier Richard Ewing, "Get me some money."

The robber scooped up some packages of 50-dollar bills. Then he took Ewing as a shield and backed out the door with his gun in Ewing's back.

Ewing was let go and the man fled in a blue and white convertible parked out front.

Wilson Stands Ground, Refuses Guard Apology

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Far from apologizing, Secretary of Defense Wilson today virtually repeated his charge that during the Korean War some young men joined the National Guard to dodge the draft.

Reporters saw Wilson at the White House, after he called on President Eisenhower, and told him some senators had suggested he ought to apologize to the Guard. "I know of no reason why I should," he replied.

What set off the furor was this statement by Wilson yesterday to the House Armed Services Committee:

"It was a sort of scandal during the Korean War, a draft dodging business. A boy 17 to 18½ could enlist in the National Guard and not be drafted to fight in Korea."

Wilson Doesn't Budge

Told today of expressions of resentment, Wilson didn't budge.

"Perhaps that was a little tough language," he said, "but that is exactly what it amounted to."

Wilson said in reply to a question that he had not talked about the matter in his conference with Eisenhower.

His impromptu meeting with reporters opened with a question as to whether he had "fixed a date" to resign from the Cabinet. "No," he replied.

"Are you going to?"

"Sooner or later — everybody does."

New Criticism Of Guard

Wilson also came up with additional criticisms of the Guard, telling the reporters:

"It ought to be efficient, ready and modernized to take care of responsibilities as they exist today."

"I have been told that more than 80 per cent of the National Guard today has had no prior military training."

"That means the National Guard is not a well trained outfit that could be depended on . . ."

Five Students Die In Car-Bus Crash

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 29 (INS)—Five college students were killed today when a car in which they were riding collided head-on with a Greyhound bus on an icy highway in the Pocono Mountains.

The victims, all students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, were identified as:

Demetrius Speros-Marinos, the driver, of Bloomsburg; McClellan Whitenight, Bloomsburg; Jerry Hawks, Nesqueh; William Snyder, Danville, and Bernard Basti, Berwick.

The double-deck scenic-type bus was en route from Philadelphia to Wilkes-Barre on the fogbound mountain highway when the crash occurred.

House Now Full Of Holes But 'Cat' In Wall Found

GLENDORA, Calif., Jan. 29 (AP)—You could have knocked over the Vincent Cartas family with a cat whisker today. There wasn't a cat in their house wall after all.

For 24 days the Cartas had been hearing meows coming from the wall.

They knocked holes in the walls. They called "Kitty, Kitty." They put out saucers of milk. No cat.

And they had suggestions from everyone who professed to know how to get cats out of walls. It got so bad they disconnected the phone.

With the Cartas at the end of their rope and the cat presumed near the end of its nine lives, Roger Adams, a sound engineer, and Ole Hammer, a water system expert, tried their hand today.

Using sound devices, they tracked what sounded like a faint meow in the bathroom wall to a water meter. They turned off the water meter — no meow. The Cartas sighed in relief.

Now all they have to do is have the defective meter repaired and patch up the holes in the walls.

Garment Maker Takes Refuge In 5th Amendment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—A New Jersey clothing manufacturer refused today to tell Senate investigators whether he has been "paying off government personnel" and using phony bookkeeping to cover up.

The balky witness before the Senate Investigations subcommittee was Thomas Digiacomo of Paterson, N.J., president of four clothing firms which the subcommittee said have held government contracts totaling more than nine million dollars.

Invoking the Fifth Amendment, Digiacomo refused to explain $27,000 in payments which investigators said were listed as going to "fictitious firms or fictitious people."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) termed the witness' conduct a "reprehensible" effort to "conceal whether the government was defrauded."

He demanded that Digiacomo be barred from doing any further business with the government and ordered a transcript of the hearing sent to the Pentagon and other federal agencies.

The names of three persons referred to as government inspectors figured in the questioning. But Digiacomo and two other witnesses shed little light on their connection with the inquiry.

In refusing to answer most questions put to him, Digiacomo said "I might tend to incriminate myself" by giving truthful replies.

The public hearing, which will be continued tomorrow, was the latest in the subcommittee's search for evidence of graft in military clothing contracts. The investigation has been continuing off and on since 1955.

Pravda Calls For Ideological Soviet Shakeup

MOSCOW, Jan. 29 (AP)—Pravda called today for an ideological shakeup of the Soviet Communist party.

The authoritative newspaper of the party's Central Committee charged Soviet citizens are being corrupted by anti-Soviet elements among them while Communist party members stand idly by.

"Some people in our country are trying to make use of existing difficulties and deficiencies for their own anti-Soviet purposes by spreading all kinds of provocative rumors under the guise of criticism and self-criticism and slogans of 'struggle for democracy,'" Pravda said.

Some Communist party leaders were declared infected with "bourgeois ideology."

The paper said ideological, political and propaganda work in both urban and rural areas has been slipping recently and in some areas has reached a vanishing point.

It listed state farms which have not been visited by party political workers in months.

Such laxness in political work among the masses, the paper said, creates "conditions for penetration of the influence of alien bourgeois ideology and for revival of vestiges of capitalism in the minds of the Soviet people."

Guard 'Washed Hands' Of 804 Men Last Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Selective Service System said today the National Guard reported 804 men to draft boards last year for prompt induction because they allegedly failed to keep up with their drills.

A spokesman said the men were reported by their commanding officers. Men of draft age in both the ready reserve and National Guard are liable to induction if they fail to keep up satisfactorily with their drills.

Thus far only guardsmen have been inducted under this provision, the spokesman said.

Three New Missile Projects Identified

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Army and Air Force identified today and showed motion pictures of each. Announced at the annual meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, they were the Army's Lacrosse "field artillery missile" and two Air Force research vehicles, the Lockheed

X-17, and the North American X-10 bomber against a target on the ground. At the same time the Navy reported that its 6th Fleet, now in the Mediterranean, is prepared to fight a "war of missiles" should the need arise.

The first guide book was written by the Abbot of Thingor in Iceland about 1154.

Counties' Shares Of State Liquor Tax Take Big Jump

BALTIMORE, Jan. 29 (AP)—The largest share of the taxes, $606,405. The city's increase was eight per cent.

The rate of tax is $1.50 a gallon. One third of this is distributed to the sub-divisions, based on deliveries to retail dealers.

Taxes said the retailers built up their inventories during the last six-month period because certain companies announced price increases effective Jan. 1.

Amounts distributed and per cent of increase during the six month period included: Allegany, $37,486, 12 per cent; Calvert, $5,000, 3 per cent; Carroll, $5,177, 13 per cent; Charles, $16,420, 15 per cent; Frederick, $23,155, 8 per cent; Howard, $12,960, 17 per cent; Montgomery, $58,583, 7 per cent; Prince Georges, $95,473, 15 per cent; St. Marys, $17,716, 10 per cent; and Washington, $33,966, 11 per cent.

Garrett County received no share because sale of liquor in the county is illegal.

Bids On Hagerstown By-Pass Are Opened

BALTIMORE, Jan. 29 (AP)—Wright Contracting Co., of Odenton, Md., today submitted a low bid of $4,034,307 to construct 5 1/2 miles of the Hagerstown by-pass leading north from U.S. 40 to the Pennsylvania State line.

The contract also called for 7 1/2 miles of connecting roads.

Six firms submitted bids.

McGuire and Ralfe Inc., of Washington, submitted a low bid of $693,457 for relocating an eight mile section of Md. 235 in St. Mary's County.

The section to be relocated is from 2 1/2 miles south of St. James Church Rd. northerly to Lexington Park. There were three bids on the project.

How State Would Fare Under Ike School Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Under President Eisenhower's proposed federal aid plan for school construction, Maryland would receive $4,496,000 every year for four years.

To qualify for this amount, however, the state would have to put up $5,800,000 a year. The first year this money could come from either state or local funds, but for the three other years, the funds would have to be from the state.

The matching fund system is worked out so that the poorer states have to put up less money in matching funds. Maryland is ranked as one of the wealthier states.

Gas Range Output Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Shipments of domestic gas ranges in 1956, excluding built-in models, totaled 2,008,400 units, down 11.4 per cent from the year before, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. announced.

Bell time on shipboard is reckoned at half-hour intervals. One bell, 12:30 p. m., two bells, 1 p. m.; three bells, 1:30 p. m., etc.

King Saud To See Navy And Duke Basketball Game

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 29 (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia, an ardent basketball fan, will see the first half of the Navy-Duke game here Saturday as part of a visit to Annapolis and the U. S. Naval Academy.

Naval Academy officials said the game is part of a busy schedule planned for the Arabian ruler, who is to arrive here at 10:30 a. m. from Washington.

He will be greeted with a 21-gun salute and full military honors for a visiting head of state. Midshipmen will line the route from the Academy's gate 2 to the superintendent's house, approximately one city block, where Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg III will hold a reception in his honor.

King Saud and his party of 30 to 40 persons will visit Bancroft Hall—quarters for the brigade of 3,600 midshipmen—and will have lunch with the Midshipmen in their mess hall.

Man Who Took $1,600 Would Make It Good

BALTIMORE, Jan. 29 (AP)—Shortly after 11 a. m. last Jan. 4, John C. Graber, 33-year-old bookkeeper, cashed a $1,600 company payroll check at a bank. He parked his station wagon on St. Paul Street and headed for the railroad station.

At 11:40 a. m. he was on his way to New York. Then to Chicago, and on to Los Angeles.

"When I got to Los Angeles I stayed at the Hotel Statler and I went to Santa Anita and I bought some clothes and that's about it," he said.

"Then I was looking in the paper for want ads. I was looking for a job there to pay back what I had taken. Then I decided it wouldn't do me any good. So I called my wife on Saturday night and told her I was coming back and I left Sunday evening. I called Sgt. McGuire this morning and told him I was coming in."

That was Graber's testimony today in Criminal Court as he entered a guilty plea to taking the money. He told Judge John T. Tucker he hoped he would have a chance to make the money good.

Judge Tucker withheld sentencing until he had a probation report.

Graber said he had worked as a bookkeeper for a tire sales company for about a month. He estimated he spent $350 on travel, $71 for hotels, $300 at the race track and that all but $200 went for clothing. He had the $200 when he returned.

Stand Softened By Police Critic

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Jan. 29 (AP)—Blair H. Smith, states attorney for Prince Georges County, said today he believes that county and municipal police are capable of checking illegal liquor sales and pinball machine operations.

Smith said in a written statement, "at no time have I ever stated that I was dissatisfied with the cooperation of Chief Panagoulis (head of the county police department), members of his department, or any municipal police officers, nor do I have any reason to mistrust their integrity."

Smith last week threatened to call in State Police to clean up the liquor and pinball machine situation because he said, county and municipal police were apparently not capable of doing the job.

He said at the time he had discussed the matter with Panagoulis the preceding week but his force still had not done the job Smith wanted.

In the statement, read to the board of county commissioners today, Smith noted that "it is most difficult to completely enforce the county law" because "the funds allocated for policing these matters are extremely limited; and that the limited personnel are easily recognized in the local establishments."

Smith said he wrote the statement after a meeting in his Mount Rainier office last night with Panagoulis, Sheriff J. Lee Paull, and Lt. Ernest N. Mulligan, president of the Municipal Police Assn., and chief of Colmar Manor Town police department.

Man Admits He Stole Cops' Car

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Jan. 29 (AP)—A 21-year-old Aberdeen man today admitted stealing a town police car parked in front of police headquarters.

Police Chief William Bullock said Bonnell Sexton, 21, was picked up after Sexton tried to sell police nightsticks, flashlights, machine gun bullets and clip and auto tools at an all-night gas station.

Bullock said Sexton admitted taking the cruiser about 2 a. m. He told officers where they could find it—at a nearby quarry, down in a shallow gully.

Bullock said the ignition lock had been broken and the wires crossed to permit starting the engine.

The thief missed a sub-machine gun that was hidden under the seat.

Sexton was charged with unauthorized use of a police car. Bullock said he also was wanted in Aberdeen on a charge of forgery and passing bad checks.

Cruise To Antarctica?

MCMURDO SOUND Antarctica, Jan. 29 (AP)—Dr. Laurence M. Gould, director of the U.S. program of the geophysical year, recommends that luxury liners cruise to Antarctica. In summer-time here (winter in the Northern Hemisphere) the sun shines 24 hours a day and the scenery is magnificent.

Bill Would Close All Business Places With Liquor Licenses On Election Day

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 29 (AP)—Nine bills introduced today in the Maryland General Assembly caused eyebrows to pop up to the Statehouse dome.

They would cause every place in Maryland with a liquor license—such as the big hotels in Baltimore—to close up completely while election polls are open and for an hour afterward.

Drugstores, restaurants and grocery stores which have intoxicants for sale also would have to lock the doors.

The law now prohibits sale of whisky during voting hours. But an establishment may close off its liquor area and carry on any other business.

The bill to shut everything up was introduced by two Democrats from Baltimore's 2nd District, Edward J. Bartos Sr. and Rudy Behounek.

Behounek said he allowed his favor to Bartos, Bartos said he felt that as long as taverns had to close on election days so should "every place which can sell liquor."

He admitted he hadn't realized hotels would be included. "Maybe it can be amended so that they may stay open," he said.

Del. Reed (R-Allegany) wants to make it unlawful for employers to discriminate against hiring the aged. He asked the Legislature to give the department of labor authority to see that persons "between the ages of 28 and 65" are given a fair chance to work.

Del. Whitmore (D-Anne Arundel) renewed the efforts of Annapolis to force the departments of education and welfare to locate in the new office building here when it is built. He proposed in a resolution that the Legislature ask the Board of Public Works to change a recent decision to keep the two departments in Baltimore.

Woman Killed When Auto Strikes Truck

NORTH EAST, Md., Jan. 29 (AP)—An auto struck the rear of a truck on Route 40 near here today, killing Mrs. Ella Baker of Fairfield, Conn.

The victim's husband, Wallace, who police said was driving, was hospitalized at Union Hospital, Elkton, Md., with head injuries and shock. His condition was described as not serious.

State Police said the car crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer which was halted for a red light at the intersection of Maryland Route 222.

Cultures that feed on carrion are guided to their food by sight.

Civil Service Preparing For Local Examinations

The Civil Service Commission meeting Monday, reiterated its stand that the position of stenographer in the Police Department is vacant.

And it set machinery in motion to conduct examinations February 25 for the positions of stenographer, policeman, fireman, fire captain and fire lieutenant. Applications will be received at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, secretary to the commission, until February 18.

The police stenographer position was declared vacant by the commission at a meeting the week of January 14 after it had been informed by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan that Mrs. Caroline Welsh was not returning to the position as stenographer when her year's leave of absence expired.

She had been granted leave beginning January 11, 1956. However, when the leave was to expire, she changed her mind and sent the commission a letter saying she would return, it was said. Ullery said the letter was received by the commission Friday, January 11.

The commission noted its records show the leave beginning January 11, 1956 and terminating January 10, 1957 and stated further that since January 11, was a business day, the job was vacant.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan submitted a letter to the commission asking that the decision be reconsidered in view of the fact Police Department pay records show Mrs. Welsh was paid for January 11, 1956 and it was felt would probably pass an order three eligibles on the stenographer list, Ullery said, but added two have declined.

A number of routine matters were also discussed by the commission and an invitation was received from the C&P Telephone Company for the group to visit its offices here.

Man Gets 60 Days In Assault Case

A 41-year-old Corriganville man was sentenced to 60 days in Allegany County Jail Monday after he pleaded guilty in Trial Magistrate Court to a charge of assaulting his wife.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason sentenced John Paul Clinedinst after Mrs. Helen Clinedinst charged her husband had assaulted her on Saturday.

The magistrate took into consideration a previously suspended 30-day sentence which he had imposed on Clinedinst on January 11 for disturbance of the peace. At that time the defendant had been placed on probation for one year.

City To Get Refund On Drainage Work

The city is due to receive a 60 per cent refund from the federal government for installation of drainage facilities through the C&O Canal towpath levee at Offutt Street near the new sewage treatment plant.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday he has been informed by the U. S. Department of Interior National Park Service, that an equitable distribution of cost of the $15,000 project would be 60 per cent of $9,000 to be borne by the federal government and 40 per cent or $6,000 by the city.

Eves said he had written a letter last December asking for aid on the project at the insistence of City Attorney Thomas B. Finan. Meanwhile, the Mayor and Council had already approved the expenditure.

The Department of Interior letter said work on the project had been found satisfactory and payment to the city can be made under authority of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949. Prior to reimbursing the city, however, it must furnish the Park Service with a certified copy of the work order with council's approval and a copy of the payment estimate, Eves said.

Work entailed installation of a 54-inch culvert through the towpath levee to drain off surface water which collected in the canal and in times of rain, flooded nearby homes.

The letter from the Park Service climaxes discussions on the drainage problem dating back to June 1956. From that time through November 5 meeting of Council when the expenditure was approved, several meetings were held and letters written to the Department of Interior concerning it.

At times it became thorny. When the original estimate of the work was presented by Moyer Brothers, contractors for the sewage treatment plant, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asked that it be referred to him since it, as a public works project, came under his department.

Expenditure was approved a week later after Buchholtz said he had inspected the proposal and recommended it. Buchholtz had also pointed out a week earlier that it was the first he had heard of the project and he couldn't understand why it was not included in original plans. Under the circumstances, he added, he would have to go along with it. Buchholtz also charged at the time that he was getting "too many things second-hand and if it continues to happen, I will refuse payment on them."

Israel Banker To Speak Here

Zvi Englander, prominent attorney and former bank manager in Israel, who recently returned from Israel, will appear at B'er Chayim Temple, South Centre Street Sunday evening in behalf of the State of Israel Development Bond Issue.

This community-wide function is under the auspices of B'nai B'rith according to the chairman, Rabbi Daniel Lowy, and co-chairman, Leonard C. Schwab. Englander, a native of New York and a specialist in corporation law in New York, was a member of the Brooklyn Region Zionist Executive Committee prior to his departure for Israel. He is the past president of a Zionist district, and served as the National Executive Vice-President of Masada.

Englander arrived in Palestine in July 1947 and witnessed the birth of the State of Israel and the War of Independence, and has studied the economic and financial development of this young country in its first years of existence. At the conclusion of the War of Independence, Mr. Englander was employed by one of the leading Banks in Israel

UCT Dinner Planned Here Friday Night

Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers of America, will hold a promotional dinner for prospective UCT members on Friday at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Members who have guests for this dinner are asked to make reservations not later than tomorrow with Joseph Snyder Jr. or William Craze. The regular monthly council meeting will be held on Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Odd Fellows Hall on South Mechanic Street. New members will be initiated and refreshments will be served. Mr. Snyder, who is senior counselor, urges all members to attend the meeting.

Restaurant Rules To Be Discussed

Leaders of the restaurant industry of this county are being invited to attend a meeting in Baltimore today at 1:30 p. m. when proposed rules and regulations for eating and drinking establishments will be discussed. The regulations were prepared by a steering committee named by the State Health Department. Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said the state wants this area to be represented. Informed sources said the proposals will have little effect on Cumberland, which has been using similar rules for several years.

Paw Paw, Levels Area To Get More Circuits

The C&P Telephone Company board of directors Monday voted $12,000 to increase the number of circuits between Cumberland and Paw Paw and Levels, W. Va. Robert Garner, Cumberland office manager for the phone firm, said service demands have resulted in the need for additional facilities.

Amcelle Employee Injured At Work

Hazel Knotts, RD 2, Frostburg, is reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital where she was admitted Monday afternoon. Hospital attaches said the woman sustained a shoulder and wrist injury while working at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

District 16 Firemen Give Annual Report

District 16 Volunteer Firemen answered 26 alarms during 1956, according to C. H. Merritt, past president.

Merritt said the calls included four house fires, two flue blazes, a bridge fire and 19 grass or woods fires.

The estimated damage to the houses and flues was $5,000. In addition to the fire alarms, the firemen also handled 30 "good will" runs, three false alarms, five Civil Defense runs and made one run to the Oldtown Elementary School for a demonstration. The average number of firemen on each call was five, according to Merritt.

Optimists Are Backing Rec Consolidation Plan

The Optimist Club Board of Governors has gone on record as endorsing the proposed city charter amendment to create a "Recreation and Parks Commission" consolidating programs of the two departments.

In a letter to the Mayor and Council, I. N. Evans, secretary, wrote that the club has been interested in civic affairs, more particularly youth, and sponsors the "Braddock Junior Optimist Club." It calls the consolidation plan a progressive step and in the best interest of the city.

Freda Cecelia Via Is Bride Of John Eagan

Miss Freda Cecelia Via, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Via, RFD 2, Frostburg, became the bride of John Eagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Eagan, Midland, January 20.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 1 p. m., in St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg, with Rev. Regis Larkin officiating.

Mrs. Arthur Via, Bowling Green, was the matron of honor, Mrs. Adolph Via and Miss Rosalie Annone, bridesmaids; and Donna Lynn Via, niece of the bride, flower girl. James Ricker served as Mr. Eagan's best man, while Joseph Annone and Francis Cullen were the ushers.

Given in marriage by her brother, the bride was attired in a gown of net and lace, fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice with long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, and full, floor-length skirt. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. Completing her costume, she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white carnations and mums.

Her matron of honor wore a pink net, with silver metallic thread, and taffeta, ballerina-length gown. With it she wore a matching bolero and pink slippers and mitts. Her headpiece was of pink flowers and veiling and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations, tied with green ribbons. The bridesmaids wore moss green brocaded taffeta and chiffon gowns, made with scooped necklines and ballerina-length skirts. They had matching brocaded taffeta mitts and headpiece with short veils. They also wore green slippers and their bouquets were assorted pink and white flowers, tied with pink ribbons. The flower girl wore a white nylon dress and mitts, with a white rosebud headband, and carried a miniature bouquet of mixed flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. Savage High School and is employed by the G. C. Murphy Company in Frostburg. The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall High School and is employed by the State Roads Commission in Towson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eagan entertained with a wedding reception for their son and his bride at their home following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to Eastern cities the bride chose a gold colored dress with blue topper and brown accessories.

Nan Livingstone Is Honor Guest Of County Bird Club

The Allegany County Bird Club entertained with an informal get-together party in compliment to Miss Nan Livingstone Monday evening. It was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Spring Gap.

On behalf of the group, Richard Douglass, president, presented a gift of ceramic birds to Miss Livingstone. The entertainment featured recordings of "Sounds of the Night."

A past president of the club, Miss Livingstone has been junior chairman of the club since its organization in 1947, assistant director of the Junior Nature Camp at Pleasant Valley and active in leading junior field trips during the year.

Miss Livingstone leaves Cumberland tomorrow to reside in Pittsburgh, where she has accepted a position at the Greenfield Elementary School. Miss Livingstone has been teaching the fourth grade at West Side School. She is also a member and past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Cumberland.

Guests were Mrs. Aden Everette, who was in charge of refreshments; Mrs. Richard Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Heineman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Isaac, Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Miss Catherine Manley, Miss Sara Wright, Miss Adele Malcolm, Charlotte Richardson, Daniel Folk, Harry Miller, Burns Miller, and Mrs. L. W. Burns.

Society Presents Program

The WSCS of Murley's Branch Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Paul Robinette, with Mrs. Eston Heavner presiding at the business session. Announcement was made that everyone is to have her quarterly conference report sent out by February 1. Routine reports were given by the various secretaries.

A book study on "Southeast Asia" is to be given by Mrs. Paul Robinette, who opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Justin Heavner thanked everyone for the help of assisting her with the Christmas program and an offering of $27.32 was acknowledged from the program to be sent to homes for boys and girls. Mrs. Dewey Weicht, assisted by Mrs. Eugene Kisamore, gave readings for the Week of Prayer.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Justin Heavner, using as her theme, "Island in My Own Community." Songs by the group were "Come Thou Almighty King," and "Sweet Hour of Prayer." The Scripture was read by Mrs. Homer Willison.

A playlet on ways to help youth in the community and ways to seek to grow as Christians was presented. Taking part were Mrs. Robinette, Mrs. Paul Browning, Mrs. Heavner, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Weicht, and Mrs. Kisamore. Mrs. Kisamore gave a reading about the New Year and ways to accomplish a better understanding of life and its problems. Mrs. Heavner read, "Let's Go Through the New Year Together, and Be Better Christians." Mrs. Justin Heavner gave the thought for the day and offered prayer. The closing prayer was said in unison.

Following benediction, refreshments were served, secret sister gifts were exchanged, and a

Another Winner Announced

Louise Mirkin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, 223 Schley Street, was the Allegany High School winner in the "Homemaker of Tomorrow" contest. Miss Helen McFerran, home economics teacher, announces. Barbara Valentine was the Fort Hill High School winner; Dorothy Carnes, St. Mary's High School; and Linda Kuhlman, Catholic Girls Central High School winner.

They were chosen as a result of their written examination taken last month. The test, prepared by Science Research Associates of Chicago, was administered by the schools.

Miss Mirkin is a member of the National Honor Society, treasurer of the Tri-Hi-Y, a member of the Spanish Club, exchange editor of the Alcholi Mirror and co-senior editor of the Allegewi. Cooking is her favorite hobby and she hopes to attend Cornell University, having home economics as her major.

The girls received the highest score on homemaking knowledge and attitudes in their respective schools, and their examination papers will be entered in competition for the state title. The All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named at the May banquet in New York.

Newlyweds Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Berry entertained with a miscellaneous shower, honoring their daughter, Barbara, upon her recent marriage to Lewis E. Rummer, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rummer, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Counihan.

It was held January 12 at their home, 12 Arch Street.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Berry, Mr. and Mrs. James Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Pyles and children, Nancy, David, Dennis and Dale; Mrs. William Morris and daughter, Rebecca; Russell Berry and daughter, JoAnne; Mrs. Hollie Davis and son, Thomas; Mrs. William Waggoner and son, Sam; Mrs. Herbert Davis, Mrs. Blair Ullery, Miss Edna Collins, Miss Eileen Pownall and Sandra Beery, sister of the bride.

LaVale Club Meets

The Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Fire Company discussed plans for a sauerkraut supper March 14 and serving the annual banquet of the firemen, February 16 at the regular meeting Friday evening at the fire hall.

Mrs. Gladys Burkey presided and general reports were given. The monthly donation to the firemen was made. A demonstration on plastics was given by Mrs. Mary Barnes. The meeting was opened with prayer and the flag salute.

Concluding the evening a social was held with Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, Mrs. Emma Youngblood and Mrs. Lela Lancaster hostesses.

Mrs. Pauline Beck, 103 Decatur Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in 1844 in London, England.

Court Probates Mrs. Hayden's Will

The will of Mrs. Caroline Hortense Hayden, of Westernport, who died January 18 at the age of 77, was probated yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

A daughter, Miss Helen Dixon Hayden, also of Westernport, qualified as executrix of the estate. Miss Hayden was bequeathed a life interest in the home property in Oak View, Westernport, as well as its household furnishings and effects.

Upon her death the property will be divided equally by Mrs. Hayden's other three children, James Grant Hayden, Charleston, S. C.; James Howard Hayden, Washington, D. C.; and Mary Hayden Saul, RFD 1, Woodbine. All the rest of the estate will be shared equally by the four children.

There were two special bequests in the will. They were to a grandson, James George Hayden, Charleston, S. C., and a great niece, Caroline Dixon Gannon. The will was dated Sept. 3, 1936.

Giraffes, which can gallop faster than 30 miles an hour, once were known as "camelopards."

75 Leaders Expected At Parkside Workshop

Last-minute indications were that about 75 parent-child discussion group leaders will attend the workshop from 9:45 a. m. until 3 p. m. today at Parkside Elementary School in LaVale, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county schools.

Parents from the Cumberland area, Corriganville, Ellerslie, Mt. Savage, Eckhart and Cresaptown will attend the Parkside workshop. Some 45 others from the communities between Frostburg and McCoole will attend a similar workshop at Barton.

Legislative Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The House yesterday sent to the governor a bill to prevent bus owners from being forced to pay higher license tag fees next year. These were inadvertently overlooked in a bill last year which postponed the increases for all motor vehicles for the fourth time.

The governor also received a bill to permit Washington County to join others now taxing business stock. Inventory worth more than $1,500 will be subject to a county tax of 75 per cent of its value.

The House Judiciary Committee indicated it will approve a bill permitting chemical tests to be used in drunken driving cases.

In the Senate, most legislative action was confined to committees. The Finance Committee was deadlocked 4-4 on a proposed constitutional amendment to prevent the diversion of motor vehicle funds to pay for anything but roads. Several committee members passed, and Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) scheduled the bill for another vote within the next few days.

In a prelude to the start of budget hearings today, the money committees of both houses held informal briefings with Budget Director James G. Rennie.

Special attention was drawn by a suggestion that a sort of year-around Legislature be given power to approve or reject budget amendments after the budget is passed. Such amendments may now be made by the governor or budget director. They usually involve a department's decision to use funds for some purpose other than the one originally specified in the budget as approved by the Legislature.

Rennie, noting that a number of amendments may be approved in one year, said he had no personal objection to giving a General Assembly group, such as the Legislative Council, approval powers over them. But he said it would be an "onerous burden" for the legislators, and probably an unnecessary one.

By contrast, Turnbull said he felt there should be some check on amendments, such as those which have resulted in salary increases totaling more than $1,700,000 since the last budget was approved by the Legislature. These were effected by administrative action with approval of state financial officers. Turnbull has proposed a bill to prohibit such increases.

School Construction Program Discussed

Members of the Allegany County Board of Education discussed the county's school building needs with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster at a special board meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Webster explained after the meeting that he is not yet ready to divulge details of the proposal, which would be the third building program since he assumed duties as superintendent July 1, 1952.

In 1953 a $3,500,000 program was approved and in 1955 a supplemental program of more than $900,000. Most of these projects have been completed or are in process of construction.

Board members present yesterday were Kenneth R. Malcolm, Mrs. Albert C. Cook and Joseph M. Miller.

Driver Is Fined On Two Charges

Gerald Leroy Bennett, 23, of Jane Frazier Village was fined $200 and costs on two state motor vehicle charges yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court. Magistrate J. Officer James Swann investigated the mishap. Greece is a part of the Balkan peninsula.

Britain's Troubles And Emigration

Great Britain, the little Atlantic island which once ruled the world, today finds itself completing almost two decades of continuous and overlapping crises. Suffering greatly from the destruction of the Second World War, the dissolution of the Colonial Empire, internal economic troubles and the Suez Canal dispute, English citizens today are faced with an overbearing burden of privation, rationing and lack of essential commodities.

As a result of the austerity program, which has continued almost without exception each year since World War II, emigration from Britain has mushroomed. Encouraged in the past by British officials as a means of strengthening British influence in the colonies, emigration at the present high rate is becoming a serious problem. Of particular importance are the large numbers of people in the professions, such as medicine and engineering, and those with technical skills who are seeking greener pastures. With an already existing shortage of this type personnel, even a slight decline may affect the economy greatly.

In the past eight years the number of Englishmen seeking homes elsewhere has averaged 124,400 per year, and the number of interested persons has risen sharply since the Suez invasion. Most of those leaving England are going to other British Commonwealth nations such as Canada, Australia and New Zealand, although immigration into the United States has also shown an increase. This large scale exodus from Great Britain is not conclusive evidence that the nation is finished as a world power, but it could indicate that the long-recognized patience of the English people has at last been exhausted. There are not many who will envy the task Prime Minister Macmillan faces in rebuilding his country.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
The Aristocracy Of Engineers

In a country of low literacy, the educated man is a rare exception. He has status in the community and men respect him because he can read. In a country such as ours, everyone can read, more or less, and therefore the educated man does not stand apart as unique.

In a country of widespread illiteracy, everybody knows what an educated man is. He is one who can read. In a country such as ours, the definition is not so simple. For instance, those who like to call themselves intellectuals are usually specialists in a particular field. Often, they disdain those who are not like themselves. I have a friend who has several degrees and has worked in about 30 languages or dialects but whom the intellectuals look down upon because he holds to certain unpopular views. The intellectuals go by styles and he is not stylish.

Nowadays, a bombastic campaign is afoot to get young fellows to go into some field of engineering. Colleges push the sciences as though they were the sum total of human knowledge. It is therefore with some interest that I read a speech by Henry T. Heald, president of the Ford Foundation who is himself an engineer. He said:

"Neither the shortage at home nor the increased output abroad are reasons for futile fright. We ought to be concerned about engineering numbers and quality regardless of what Russia does . . .

" . . . We must, I believe, be concerned with three continuing efforts: first, to utilize better the supply of available talent; second, to provide better educational experience for future talent; and third, to improve our methods of identifying potential talent that might otherwise be lost to us and to provide educational opportunity commensurate with ability."

This is a big order. Colleges are smothering talent by a system of majors which narrows the scope of a young person who is loaded down with majors and auxiliary courses, so that the opportunity for intellectual exploration is limited. Colleges are trying to meet this problem, with what success no one can say, except that for engineering and science specialists to broaden their minds more than four years may be necessary or the vacations may have to be cut. By some manner or means, the engineer students will have to get more of the humanities and of languages, of history and economics.

It is not altogether fair to a young fellow to press him into a specialty until he has himself reached the conclusion that that is his life goal and that there can be nothing else. The best minds are those which are doing what they want to do. A student who starts as an astronomer, moves into geology and develops a lust for musicology can find that he is becoming lopsided which is the real danger that besets engineers, as it does physicians or any other group whose specialization requires immense concentration.

The really good mind, in its youth, wants to be all over the lot at the start and that makes for the type of intellectual exploration that can shift a student from a confining specialty which may only lead to discontent and a warped attitude toward life. Intellectual exploration may come late, say in the sophomore or junior year and it often is too difficult and too costly in time for a student to shift from one major to another. He has to go through with what he is doing and hope to catch up with what he wants to do sometime during his life. If he is at all imaginative and sensitive this can be very frustrating. Perhaps the solution might be two years of cultural subjects without any specialization.

The Ford Foundation which has lots of money to spend might survey the entire field of college education with a view to discovering how youthful talent may best assert itself. Maybe the college needs a five-year course. Maybe a two or three week vacation during the summer would be sufficient, adding an additional semester that way. How would that affect students who have to work during the summer vacation to see themselves through? It is not a simple problem, all this, and requires broad-gauged thinking. The boom-boom for engineering will not solve it.

Behind A Couple Of Eight Balls

Evening In Moscow: Thoughts And Impressions

By Joseph Alsop

MOSCOW
The embassy was one of the monstrous former palaces of Moscow sugar millionaires which the Soviet government considers appropriate for the more important foreign representatives here.

The setting was therefore surrealistic—vast rooms of wildly clashing styles positively writhing with carved marble and molded stucco and gilded and frescoed ornament. Against this fantastic background, the little party of Westerners seemed slightly out of place. Yet the two ambassadors talked shrewdly about the Soviet economy. The food and the champagne were delicious. Altogether, it was rather like a particularly civilized picnic in the middle of a movie set left over from the earlier period of Cecil B. de Mille.

Back at the hotel, a French newspaper man and an Italian colleague were waiting for a nightcap. Both were rather typical European intellectuals bearing in their different ways the scars of Europe's agony in the last war. The Italian, who had been a pupil of Benedetto Croce, proposed as a topic the application to the Soviet Union of Croce's dictum that history is merely the story of human freedom.

Were the faint stirrings already discernible here the hopeful precursors of a hopeful evolution, which might take many decades but would end with a good result? Or would the iron silence of the night of the soul soon again descend upon this brave and vital people? The verdict, when the Frenchman went to bed at last, was on the whole in favor of a better human future.

By then the big-party some Polish students were giving next door had reached a roaring climax, and Alfredo, the Italian, suggested joining the fun. The Polish hosts were already leaving, but Mirko and Jan, two officials of a Czechoslovak economic ministry on detached service in Moscow, had taken firm possession of the piano.

Mirko, an ex-bourgeois who must have been a bit uncomfortable during the attack on "rootless cosmopolitans" was a superb pianist with a repertoire of French songs borrowed—how long ago!—from Yvette Gilbert. Jan was a tall, slender, powerful fellow with a great shock of dark hair, who rather strangely wore the tweed coat and slacks of an American college boy and sang the old Czech anti-Austrian songs with resonant passion.

The little smiling waiter had the Russian weakness for music. So the doors were shortly closed; more drinks appeared; and the waiter contributed "Volga, Volga" to the concert. The happy singing went on for hours in an atmosphere of easy, natural intimacy, "proving," as Alfredo remarked not absolutely logically, "that the human race will be perfectly all right if only governments will let the human race alone." Even after that, there was a long political argument with Mirko in the bleak stairwell of the hotel, in which Mirko suddenly sounded less like a human being than a political gramophone record.

If these trivia are worth recording, which is doubtful, it is only because they suggest the violent and startling contrasts of a visit to Moscow. Foreigners here are insulated, and the insulation

Baering Down On The News

Matter of self-determination of de-toured tourists now spindle-wood on the agenda of United Nations. Pick one feather from the flaps of winged victory and she will crash.

Even in the guided missile age the direct actionists prefer to stir their own topknots. A Bolivian chuckled a dornick at Mona Lisa painted by an Italian maestro hanging in a French museum. Put in Cock Robin and you have five birds with one stone.

Tourists have stared for years at Moaning Lizzie. When she was framed-napped they stared at the nail she used to hang on.

Proving that human nature is skin-deep but curiosity goes to the bone. Why should a Bolivian throw a curve at DaVinci's held-over picture? Do the guards examine only your picnic lunches to see what's on their diet?

One guard explained he was fooled the same way as the Bums in the Series. The Bolivian didn't take the usual wind-up of Louvre dornicks.

The experts say Mona smiles like she was sucking a tooth. She knows something she isn't saying. She knows where the body is hidden and also the initials of the embalmer. She is looking at that handsome guy over your shoulder same as the junior prom. Why should that make a Bolivian climb his own side-burns?

It's for the United Nations to either arbitrate or change visiting hours. Mona Lisa is never around to see the big events. Every time there's a war they sand-bag her.

King Saud Spends Millions On Own Household Despite Arabian Poverty

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — King Saud of Saudi Arabia is a six-foot-six-inch Arab, 55 years old, wearing a light yellow coat, brown suede shoes, a goatee, and eye-glasses, having forty sons and a royal household with wives, concubines, slaves, royal retainers, and guards of reportedly around 10,000 people.

He is bringing one of his youngest sons, 5-year old Prince Mansur, to the United States to see if American doctors can help his crippled hand. He is bringing no wives. Remarkable a courtier: "There are beautiful women in the United States."

There are only 200 miles of paved road in Saudi Arabia, but the country has 250 Cadillacs. The King owns quite a few of these elite cars and once gave, as a tip to the servants in Iran who took care of him on a visit there, two Cadillacs, one Chevrolet, and $80,000.

The King's annual income from the Arabian-American Oil Company is estimated at around $300,000,000. However, he has budget problems.

Of this huge income, the King spends $36,000,000 on defense, though his country is surrounded by friendly Arab neighbors. He also spends $24,000,000 on what is called internal security, which chiefly goes for payments to Arabian tribesmen to maintain their loyalty. Another $1,000,000 goes for what is called "general development," which reportedly is the improvement of palaces. Only $10,700,000 goes to health, education, and social services all combined, with most of the balance going to the King's own far-flung retinue.

Arabian Poverty

This gets to the heart of the most difficult problem facing the United States and President Eisenhower in the talks with King Saud. For, while the King and the President are both anxious to combat Communism in Saudi Arabia, the biggest breeder of Communism is the poverty of the Arabian people, which today are heavily tubercular, about 40 per cent syphilitic, with 70 per cent suffering from trachoma.

To combat this, the King has established only ten primary schools in his entire nation of nearly 7,000,000 people, and only two high schools.

President Eisenhower may consider it indicative to make any suggestions to him about this internal problem; yet disease, poverty and ignorance are always the biggest breeders of Communism.

It's reported that the King wants to secure some American cash because his royalties have dwindled as a result of the Suez stoppage. How far Eisenhower and the State Department will go in suggesting that part of this money be spent on the Arabian masses, will be important to observe. At one time, Vice President Henry Wallace, then head of the Board of Economic Warfare, required that part of the money for American tin purchases in Bolivia go toward the betterment of Bolivian miners.

So far, however, both the Eisenhower Administration and the Arabian-American Oil Company have shied away from giving too many hints to King Saud about how he should spend either his oil royalties or American aid. In fact, the Eisenhower Administration took the unusual stand of declining to sign a United Nations treaty to outlaw slavery, reportedly as a result of the sensitivity of King Saud.

Arab Slave Trade

This is the most shocking chapter in both the life of Saudi Arabia and to some extent in our relations with that country. The reports of the United Nations and the Anti-Slavery Society of London show that approximately half a million slaves are held in Saudi Arabia, most of them recruited from Africa.

Arab slave traders for years have done a lucrative business carrying slaves from as far away as French Equatorial Africa to Saudi Arabia. In some cases, Negroes have been traded for guns. In other cases, Moslem Negroes have been promised a free trip to Mecca thereby ensuring that they will have a place in Paradise. They have climbed happily aboard the slave-traders' trucks, journeyed to Arabia, and once there, have been arrested for illegal entry and sold on the slave market.

Female Negroes under fifteen sell for anywhere between $400 to $1,100, males for $400 to $500. UN reports tell of older slaves set free, because they are a burden on their owners, and allowed to starve in the streets of Saudi Arabian cities. On the other hand, King Ibn Saud, father of the King who is now visiting the United States, is credited with an edict requiring slave-owners to protect and support their slaves in their declining years.

The question of slavery was debated extensively at Geneva by the United Nations last August and September, and a convention finally adopted abolishing it. The United States, however, took an amazing position. It refused to sign. Russia, Red China, and most of the other important countries of the world signed. But not the United States.

Walter Kotschnig, representative of the United States, explained that while the United States abhorred slavery, his government doubted "the efficacy of any new convention." Then he proceeded to give the shocking excuse that to sign such a treaty would interfere with the internal affairs of other countries — in other words, with the right of Saudi Arabia to carry on slavery.

"Many of the provisions of the proposed new convention," said Mr. Kotschnig, "deal with subjects generally conceded to be in the area of domestic jurisdiction."

"Better results might be achieved through public debate which would bring the weight of world opinion on shortcomings," he said.

He also suggested "educational measures . . . and possibly economic or other assistance."

"On behalf of my government I wish this conference every success," he said. But he abstained from voting for the treaty outlawing an institution over which the United States had fought a long and bloody war.

EARNING POWER

How are you doing as compared to five years ago? According to a statistician, it took the average working man in 1951 some 41 minutes to earn the price of a steak. Now, says he, it takes only 28 minutes for the average worker to earn the price of a steak. Also, that five years ago it took the average man 44 minutes to earn the price of a haircut. Now it takes only 42 minutes.

Flood Waters Hit Southern West Virginia

Many Families Flee Their Homes

LOGAN, W. Va., Jan. 29 (AP)—Floods hit Southern West Virginia today, claiming at least one life, inundating highways and forcing dozens of families out of their homes.

The counties of Logan, McDowell, Mercer and Mingo—along the state's southern border—bore the brunt of the high water.

Seven-year-old Jimmy Deer of nearby Verdunville was on his way to school this morning when he slipped off a footlog over Mud Creek and drowned.

At the U. S. Weather Bureau in Huntington, meteorologist Leroy Stone said Gary, McDowell County, had 3.49 inches of rain in a 36-hour period ending at 1 p. m. There was 3.47 inches reported at Pineville, Wyoming County, 2.24 inches at Camden-on-Gauley, Webster County, and 1.5 inches or more at other points.

Fifteen to 20 families were evacuated from their homes in Princeton when trapped by a fast rise of Brush Creek.

Some schools closed in Mingo and Logan counties.

Frostburg Postal Workers To Honor Veteran Employee

FROSTBURG — The employees of the local postoffice and their wives will attend a dinner at the Little Ritz restaurant, West Main Street, tonight at 6:30 o'clock, in honor of Marshall P. Lewis, a veteran employee of the Postoffice Department who will retire January 31 after 33 years of service.

Mr. Lewis began work at the local postoffice as a substitute clerk on July 1, 1924. He held this position until 1932, when he became a regular clerk. He is now serving at the money order desk.

He is the son of the late Lewis and Elizabeth (James) Lewis, and was born at 142 Hill Street in Frostburg. He and his wife, the former Gertrude Lilya, a sister of the county investigator, Edward Lilya, now reside in LaVale.

Mr. Lewis has always enjoyed hunting and intends to spend a lot of his time in the woods and "just resting" after his retirement becomes effective Thursday.

Contributions Received For Cardiograph

FROSTBURG — Several days ago, Dr. W. O. McLane, chairman of the medical staff at Alton Hospital, stated that an electrocardiograph was badly needed at the hospital. Within hours after the article appeared in the paper, the treasurer of the Allegheny County Heart Association called Dr. McLane and assured him that a check for $100 would be handed to the hospital to be used towards the purchase of this valuable and badly needed piece of equipment.

Shortly thereafter, Charles S. Jeffries, 68, West Main Street, a retired lumber dealer contacted Dr. McLane, and stated that he would be happy to give another hundred dollars towards the cardiograph.

On February 22, Frostburg Council No. 142, Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Women's Organization have planned a benefit dance, all of the proceeds of which will be given towards the purchase of the machine.

This response to the request of the hospital staff has been most gratifying, Dr. McLane states, and it is hoped that several other public spirited citizens or service clubs may come forward with enough additional contributions to finance the purchase of the cardiograph soon.

W. Va. Jury Pay Measure Goes To Governor

Trailer Truck Bill Passes In House

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 29 (AP)—The House became embroiled in debate today on a bill to stretch the legal length of trailer-trucks by five feet before passing the measure by a six-vote margin.

Thirty-one Democrats and 15 Republicans teamed to put the bill across 33-47. Voting against the measure, which now goes to the Senate, were 27 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

Del. Tompos (D-Hancock) introduced the measure which would extend from 45 to 50 feet the permissible length of a two-unit vehicle combination.

Two measures received final approval by the House and go to the governor. One will permit county courts to spend money to build and equip county buildings at the State FFA-FHA and Conference Center near Ripley.

Also sent to the governor after the House concurred in a Senate amendment was a pay raise for petit jurors. It will provide pay of not less than $5 nor more than $8 per day, compared to the present $2-$5 range.

The Senate moved up for a passage vote tomorrow one bill, it would increase the annual renewal fee for registered nurses from $1 to $3.

Allegany, Valley And Beall Floormen Score Wins

Alco Swamps Ridgeley By 91-55 Score

Johnson And Bruce Tally 41 Points In 10th Straight Win

Allegany High's streaking Campers poured on the coal last night to run up their highest scoring total of the season in swamping the Ridgeley High Blackhaws, 91-55, at Campobello.

The triumph gave the Alco quint a sweep of its series with the Hawks and extended their current winning streak to 10 games in a row. The win also prolonged Coach Gene Shaw's charges' home floor victory skein at 16 straight.

Kenny Johnson and Ronnie Bruce powered the Camper five to its 13th triumph in 14 starts this season by scoring 41 points between them. Johnson, the city's leading scorer, added 21 points to his mounting total while Bruce contributed 20 as Allegany netted 39 field goals in the assault against the Hawks.

Coach Shaw put 12 players into the lineup for the Campers and they all clipped in the scoring column.

George Earnest hooped a foul to give Coach Tom O'Conner's Hawks a brief 7-6 first quarter lead but a pair of singletons by Johnson made it 8-7 Allegany and the rampaging Campobello team was never in trouble thereafter.

John Teter scored 16 points in a losing cause for Ridgeley. The lineups:

FROSTBURG, Jan. 29.—Beall High School's Mountaineers outclassed Piedmont High School, leaders of the Potomac Valley Conference, for the second time this season by romping off with an 83-51 decision here tonight.

Earlier in the campaign Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's quint defeated Piedmont on its home floor by the margin of 30 points, 79 to 49.

Three of Piedmont's first stringers were shut out from the field as Beall slammed in 30 field goals and 17 foul goals to rout the Mineral counties, who trailed 46-18 at halftime and 72-32 at the close of the third period.

Lewis Llewellyn and Bill Croves headed the Beall assault with 20 points each. Llewellyn collected eight goals and Croves scored six. Joe Niland accounted for seven of the 16 field goals credited to Piedmont. He also rang up a total of 16 points while Terry Larue had 11.

Beall has won 11 games and lost two while Piedmont's record is nine wins and four defeats. Lineups:

Sentinels Lose Fifth Straight In CVAL, 48-43

Hubs Sweep Set; Only 26 Baskets Scored In Game

Fort Hill High School suffered its fifth consecutive defeat in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League last night when it dropped a 48-43 decision to North Hagerstown High School on the Fort Hill court.

Coach Mel Henry's Hubs had beaten the Sentinels in the first game of their series by the score of 56-34.

Only 26 field goals were scored in last night's game—14 by the Hubs and 12 by the Sentinels, who went down to defeat for the 10th time in 13 outings this season. Hagerstown hooped 20 out of 29 free throws and Fort Hill converted 19 out 30 shots at the 15-foot mark.

John McPhail led the Hubs' offense with 16 points while Douglas Metz was high man for Fort Hill with 10 tallies.

Thurl Roy of Fort Hill and Pat Henry of Hagerstown exited on personal fouls. Lineups:

Knicks Win Over Warriors, 114-110

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Rookies Ron Sobie and Willie Naulls fired the New York Knickerbockers to a 114-110 victory over Philadelphia tonight after Boston's Celtics had run their winning streak to eight with a 103-91 decision over Minneapolis in the opener of an NBA doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Portage Giant Has 31-Point Average

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Leonard (Panhandle) Chappell, 230-pound 6-foot-8 junior center with Portage High near here is the latest rage in Pennsylvania scholastic basketball circles.

In his team's first eight games, all of which Portage won, he tallied 248 points for a 31-point average. His best output was 46 points and his lowest 24.

Chappell also is a defensive standout. In his first eight games he grabbed 167 rebounds.

As a sophomore last season, Chappell tallied 522 points for a 20.6 average while Portage was ringing up a 20-4 season record. He is a good student and just turned 16 (Jan. 31). Several colleges already have shown an interest in Chappell, reports Portage coach Jim Hess.

William Shakespeare's family records show different spellings of the surname.

Randy Tops Jackie

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Now that the Brooklyn Dodgers plan to go with Randy Jackson at third base next season, a comparison shows that the ex-Chicago Club drove home more runs than did Jack Robinson during the 1956 season.

Jackson was at bat 307 times, 50 less than Robinson, but drove home 53 runs, 10 more than Robinson. Jackson played in 101 games, 80 at third base last season. Robinson was in 117 games, including 72 at third base. Robinson, hitting .275, was one point higher than Jackson who appeared to have third base clinched until he cut his hand on a porcelain bathroom fixture while taking a shower.

American League Prepares Plan To Cover Catastrophe

Player Pool Will Be Set Up To Aid Any Disabled Club

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—The American League is preparing a catastrophe plan which would enable a club, if disabled by a transportation disaster, to continue with a high caliber lineup selected from a league player pool.

A three-member committee is putting the finishing touches on the plan to be submitted to the league meeting in New York Friday. The National League also meets in New York Friday and a joint session will be held Saturday.

All major league clubs travel mainly by train and all American League clubs at one time or another use planes, especially to make the Cleveland or Detroit to Kansas City hop and return to either city.

Eight Players Killed

The most serious transportation accident in baseball history occurred on a bus. Eight members of the Spokane club of the Western International League were killed as their bus careened off a road in the Cascade Mountains.

The plan hinges upon uniform insurance precaution by all clubs which might total a million and a half or a million and three quarters dollars per club. Virtually all carry almost that much, or more, insurance now.

The plan then would operate in this manner. In event of a club disaster, President Will Harridge would summon an emergency league meeting. It would be there determined how many players would be required by the disabled club. The other clubs would submit a list of 10 players from their normally active list of 25.

Select From Pool

From this pool, the disabled club could pick one or more players from each club with a theoretical price list of, say, $100,000 for the first choice, $75,000 for the second, $50,000 for the third, etc.

Because each club would submit its own 10-player list, there would be no possibility that a player like Mickey Mantle, Ted Williams, Al Kaline, etc., would go to the crippled club.

At the same time, however, the available talent would be of major league caliber and not weaken the disabled club as much as if it had to rebuild to any great extent with minor league talent.

Gallant Man Heads 13 In $20,000 Race

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Thirteen speedy 3-year-olds, including 11 eligibles for the $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes, were entered today in the $20,000 added Bahamas at Hialeah Park tomorrow.

Headed by Ralph Loew's Gallant Man, English-bred winner of the Hibiscus ten days ago, the field includes such promising colts as Clifford Lusk's Federal Hill, Edwards & Massey's King Hairan, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Claiborne Farm's Round Table, each of whom carries 126 pounds compared with 123 on Gallant Man.

Golf Show Set

NEW YORK (AP)—The first National Golf Show is set for the 71st Regiment Armory in New York March 22-30. It will be the first large exposition devoted entirely to golf.

Golf architect Robert Trent Jones will construct a fairway, sand trap and green 100 feet long and 50 feet wide to accommodate indoor competition. The green also will be used for exhibitions by various professionals.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It could be that Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves might try to steal more bases next season. The third baseman was successful in stealing bases on each of his six attempts during 1956. Cincinnati's Wally Post had the same record, six for six.

Kaline Signs Detroit Pact For $30,000

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (AP)—Al Kaline tonight in a surprise session with the Detroit Tigers signed his 1957 contract for an estimated $30,000.

The 22-year-old outfielder got together with John Mahle, director of player personnel, and in a brief meeting came to terms.

This brought to an end a brief flurry of trouble over the salary of the young hitting sensation. Tigers call their greatest batting star since Ty Cobb.

OLD

On The Line

by Bob Considine

TOPEKA, Jan. 29 (INS)—Eight years ago, Kansas pioneered the University of Medical School. He was soon its rural health program, now being copied by many other states.

Here's how it works:

Altamont, Kansas, population 719, wanted a doctor. Citizens were tired of driving miles to a neighboring city for medical care, or feeling a pang of helpless terror when a child cried at night and no skilled physician was near.

Citizens sold shares in a proposed clinic at $10 each, held pancake suppers and dinners to raise money. They built a seven-room clinic, equipped it and got a doctor — Dr. L. E. Jackson, 36, a Louisiana-trained physician.

This is the dramatic story of medicine in Kansas. It is happening all over the state. The continuing operation of the rural health plan launched eight years ago under the leadership of Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of University of Kansas (at Lawrence, 25 miles from Topeka) then medical school dean. It has been so common place in Kansas that its success is almost unnoticed here. But not so in medical circles of the nation.

The Kansas Plan is known and acclaimed, for the state has brought the technique of proper doctor distribution to both rural and urban communities most nearly to perfection.

It has done so under a free choice, free enterprise system, that has improved the efficiency of private medicine to a point that still astounds the rest of the country.

Eight years after its inception: 1—Good medical care now is more accessible to all the citizens of Kansas than to the residents of any other state — despite the greater distances between towns in an agricultural state.

2—More physicians numerically, both residents of Kansas and those from other states, attend post graduate courses at the University of Kansas School of Medicine than attend such courses in any other school in the world.

3—Kansas has what is believed to be the largest medical school student loan fund—$212,103.

4—The Kansas success in plugging vacancies in rural communities has set a pattern for the nation. Not one of the 105 counties of Kansas is without a physician today. A few years ago 10 counties had no doctor. No community in the state with a population of 1,000 or more is without a doctor.

Dr. Murphy is quite a man. He was headed for heart research in Kansas City, Mo., when a series of circumstances directed him

An urbane, affable Irishman who reads everything from Rabelais to Runyon, and likes music ranging from Gershwin to Berlin, Murphy is a genuine whizz at getting the necessary dough-remi with which he has performed his wonders. He sells the needs of medical care to the man on the corner, the everybody passing through Kansas — including tenders of the purse strings in Washington.

One of his first feats was to keep the young Midwest doctor from seeking greener fields in the East and on the coast. He raised salaries as he raised money. When he arrived at KU, the school of medicine gained $200,000. In 1951 he got it up to $700,000. Not long ago he persuaded the legislature to give him the unprecedented sum of $3,800,000 to expand the school and its hospital. He re-forested the land with the vanishing country doctor.

He did this by making country work the great calling it once had been in the eyes of American doctors. To combat the country doctor's fear of medical isolation, he sent his faculty people around to lecture on the latest scientific developments, and organized refresher courses for general practitioners. He has never spared himself in this great crusade, and tens of thousands of people will be in better health because he — who might have worked in a cloister — passed this way.

Somerset Bus Strike Continues

The Somerset Bus Company yesterday entered its 44th day of a work stoppage of its drivers and maintenance men that has halted bus service between Cumberland and Somerset.

The company also operated from Somerset to Johnstown and Pittsburgh.

The drivers went on strike when their union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the company could not agree to terms.

The company announced recently that it would begin to interview prospective employees in an effort to find operators for the buses.

All types of hair need brushing, even the oiliest. J. R. P. explains.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Does Brushing Make Hair Oilier?

"You advise brushing to make hair beautiful, but it doesn't work for me," insists Miss A. J. in a recent letter. "My hair is oily, and the more I brush it, the oilier it gets. I'd at least like the cleaning brush does between shampoos, but what can be done in a case like mine?"

I'm afraid Miss J. is discouraged too soon. I can guess exactly what happens. She goes about the brushing vigorously a time or two and her hair does get oilier. Then she gives the whole thing up for a while, and when she goes in for brushing again, she has the same experience — her hair is darker than ever.

The trouble lies in those periods of neglect. Oil floats on her scalp, and when she brushes her hair, the oil is spread out on the hair surfaces. This can't be avoided, and it doesn't improve the looks of her hair right then, but for oily hair, just as for any other, the brushing routine must be established if the hair is to be beautiful, healthy, and clean.

Hair doesn't grow oilier the more it is brushed if the brushing is regular. Actually, brushing day in and day out helps to allay the activity of the oil glands. The sooner the habit is established the better. For the first few times when the brushing seems to make things worse, it's a good idea to fit a strip of clean cheesecloth or surgical gauze over the bristles of the brush to absorb some of the oil as the hair is stroked from the crown of the head toward the ends.

Special shampooing is necessary for oily hair. Use tincture of green soap once a week — or often because it is strong — to return oily hair to normal.

Chemical Group Summarizes Its College Efforts

A summary of the work completed in the effort to obtain a four-year college for Western Maryland was given, members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Gordon Sutherland and Charles A. Orrick, representing the local branch of the American Chemical Society, informed the commissioners of the contacts made in connection with the project.

They exhibited a large drawing of the area showing that no colleges, except Frostburg State Teachers College and Potomac State College, are within 80 miles of Cumberland and most are 140 miles away in Baltimore and Washington.

Sutherland told the board that the Chemical Society is planning to widen the scope of the program and turn over the project to what he termed a "community committee" as his group feels that it should not handle the exploratory work has been completed.

He also brought out that the Chemical Society is not solely interested in a college to perpetuate chemists or scientists.

"We feel that the college should be a liberal arts school as well as one giving degrees in the sciences," Sutherland said.

One chart exhibited at yesterday's meeting projected the large increases in enrollment in Maryland colleges in the next 15 years. In 1969 it is estimated there will be twice the number of college students as at the present time.

Orrick read letters which the society has received from U.S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde in which the Congressmen gave their support to the project and offered any assistance they can give.

Orrick also said officials of the State Department of Education have shown a sympathetic attitude toward the proposal. Various civic, fraternal and service organizations have also shown interest in the plan, Orrick said.

Members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly are assisting and have promised to ask for a survey by the state concerning the need for a college in this area. Members of the county board said they are wholeheartedly in support of the plan.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29 (INS)—Sullivan's TV show and others while he's in the big town.

Darryl Zanuck writes: "I note in your article about Jim Bishop's 'The Day Christ Died,' you mentioned that you think Christ will be played by an off-stage character, because of British censorship regulations. Jim Bishop's entire story takes place during the last 24 hours of the life of Christ, from the Last Supper to the Crucifixion and is factual.

"I have already discussed the portrayal of Christ with Sir Arthur Watkins, the chief British censor. He has assured me that if my script faithfully follows the book, that this restriction will be waived in this particular instance. I could not possibly make the film without portraying the figure of Christ."

Ida Lupino, who had to have three operations on her eye, said: "I looked a sight for a few days, but thank goodness I am all right now and I have learned my lesson about eye strain. That is what caused my trouble."

Ida tells me that she is looking for a TV show for Mala Powers, about a young actress who comes to Hollywood and her experiences, her failures and her successes.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Isn't Harry Belafonte, great artist who opens at the Coconut Grove tomorrow night, planning to marry Julie Robinson when he's free?

Zsa Zsa Gabor, who always speaks of New York tomorrow morning to be guest of honor at the March of Dimes dinner at the Waldorf Astoria. He's also due to make an appearance on Ed

Coal Weight Law Meeting Anticipated

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, is anticipating a meeting soon in connection with the enforcement of coal weighing law in this county.

Mr. Fletcher recently suggested a conference in a letter to Richard N. Smith, College Park, assistant superintendent of weights and measures.

Mr. Smith came here recently to confer on the enforcement problem, but was unable to meet with Mr. Fletcher since court was in session.

The deadline for enforcement was moved to February 1 and may have to be extended, officials said.

Local Company Gets Contract

A contract for a $600,000 program of construction at Alderson-Broadus College in Philippi, W. Va., has been awarded the John I. Vandegrift Company of Cumberland.

A new dormitory for 150 students is to be constructed at a cost of $408,808 and financed through a loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved the detailed Agency. A new library to be constructed at a cost of $197,978, bid. has been made possible through Harlen L. Silence In Color

The director who thought of giving the role of a mute hillbilly to Betsy von Furstenberg hereby wins the Crosby Casting Award for 1957. How did such a thought ever cross his mind? If I were casting a mute hillbilly, I rather think Miss Furstenberg's name would occur to me pretty close to the bottom of AFTRA's roster.

Not that she was bad in the role. On the contrary, she was touching and comprehensible and eye-filling which is all you can decently ask of an actress whose mouth the author has kept resolutely closed. It's just that either as mute or as hillbilly, Miss von Furstenberg's name doesn't exactly spring at you—at least not at me.

In fact the idea of writing a major role for a mute ingenue is one that would only occur to Wendell Mayes who almost specializes in mute or almost mute characters. Even his characters who can talk don't if they can help it. He first came to public attention with a TV drama—and a very good one—titled "No Riders." In this one, a little Mexican boy, defying all efforts to pry information about his identity out of him, kept his mouth firmly closed for about four fifths of the play.

None of the Mayes characters is exactly a chatterbox and there are always great stretches of Mayes drama in which the characters go about their business without uttering a word. Of course, this the great art for the inarticulate.

The dramatists—Steinbeck, Chayefsky, Rod Sterling and the rest—have elected themselves the minnisters of the speechless—the hoboos, and butchers and prizefighters. Never have the inarticulate had so many articulate champions.

In fact, if I had to pick a trend at the moment, I'd say it was that silence is coming in. There was a movie called "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" in which Mr. Hulot uttered hardly a word. Not so long ago Ernie Kovacs essayed almost half an hour of speechless comedy. And now Wendell Mayes has kept Betsy von Furstenberg quiet for a full hour. And in color, too. It's the coming thing, silence.

Otherwise, though, "Most Blessed Woman," which was the name of Mr. Mayes play, is not up to some of his previous works. It was sort of sequel in reverse to his play "Hang Up My Guns." A couple of characters who were decidedly minor in that play were the major ones in this one. But this takes up their story twenty odd years earlier.

Miss Furstenberg is the mute hillbilly whom "no man in his right mind" would wed. Albert Salmi is a "wild and mean" mountaineer whose very name frightens little children. Boy meets girl—I guess this sort of thing happens all the time in the mountains—when she fishes a bullet out of his back. Love ensues and the ferocious mountaineer and the mute and hopeless hillbilly girl get married and live happily ever after.

That's all there is to it and who can talk don't if they can help it. It's not enough. Within this too narrow compass, Mayes has some fine scenes. A hillbilly dance with square dances and wrestling, the wedding, the first moments alone of the newlyweds—they were all taut, tense and delicate scenes with Mayes' usual great gaps of silence. But the issue was never really in doubt; there's no dramatic climax because there's nothing to have a climax about. It's another example of my old complaint about television dramas which have good beginnings and endings but no middles.

Still, the color was nice and the long stretches of silence were more than welcome. There's nothing more intriguing than looking at a lovely face and wondering what is going on behind it. Come to think of it, Rita Gam laid the foundation of a movie career with just such a role. If any of you girls are looking for a similar role, get Mayes to write it. He hates dialogue, conceivably the first playwright so peculiarly afflicted. It's like a dentist who hates teeth.

CHRYSLER
56 Chrysler H. T. Nassau

The former owner of this beautiful all white Hard Top was a local doctor that kept the car in tip-top shape with regular 1,000 mile checks. The custom made interior of white Vinyl and Nylon does not have spots. The powerful V8 motor of 230 HP has Push Button control and will be trouble free, as the car has only been driven 16,000 miles. The equipment includes:
Power Steering, Power Brakes, Radio with rear seat speaker, Heater,
Defroster, Tinted Glass, Signal lights, Back lights, and original
White Side Wall tires, and all of Chrysler's small accessories. This is your opportunity to own a powerful Chrysler and our price only

McKeldin Denies Backing Teacher Pay Raise Bill

Governor Deplores 'Pressure' Tactics To Secure Passage

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 29 (P)—Gov. McKeldin disavowed emphatically today implications that he inspired a Republican delegate's introduction of bills to give school teachers more state pay financed with higher sales taxes.

He also said he was satisfied that the Legislature

Drunk Driving Bill Approved By Committee

Chemical Tests Would Be Used

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 29 (P)—The House Judiciary Committee today tentatively approved a bill which would provide for the use of chemical tests as evidence in drunken driving cases.

It planned to vote a favorable report on the proposed measure after tacking on an amendment to insure that all such tests will be voluntary.

The same bill—with the same amendment—passed the House in the 1955 General Assembly but died in the Senate.

Under the proposal, a person suspected of driving while under the influence of alcohol would be given a chemical test, with his consent, to determine the amount of alcohol in his blood.

Presumptions Given

The results would then be given the following presumptions in criminal court:

1. Up to .05 per cent by weight, the defendant was not under the influence.

2. More than .05 but less than .15 per cent, the defendant may or may not have been under the influence.

3. A reading of .15 per cent or higher, the defendant was under the influence.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner for the state, said two ounces of 100 proof whisky or two 12-ounce bottles of beer would give a .05 reading in a 150-pound man or woman, provided it was consumed within one hour on an empty stomach and none of it was burned up.

Dr. Fisher said the law would provide a means of producing scientific evidence of drunken driving in courts.

No Definite Criteria

Judge Einar Christiansen of Montgomery County said there are at present no definite criteria to guide a judge in deciding whether a driver was under the influence of alcohol. The court must base its decision on opinion evidence, he said.

State Police Superintendent Elmer F. Munshower said his men must now use an "observation test" which is difficult to uphold in court.

Clark F. King, assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, said drunken driving convictions have increased from 40 to 96 per cent since chemical tests were allowed in evidence in the District. He said many cases are dismissed before reaching the courtroom on the basis of chemical findings.

Farm Trainees Gain Approval

Seven men who have been participating in the on-the-farm training program for veterans of the Korean War since last July were approved by an advisory committee on the training for continuance in the program.

James E. Taylor, who has been instructing the evening program at Fort Hill High School since last July, submitted a report to the committee.

James H. House, vocational agriculture teacher in the county schools, was named chairman of the advisory committee, and Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aide of the Soil Conservation Service, was named secretary. Others who attended the committee meeting Monday night at Fort Hill High School included County Agent Joseph M. Steger, Lee Frazee, former veterans' training instructor; William Shumaker, Rawlings dairy farmer; Ellsworth Crabtree, Oldtown orchardist and farmer; and Theodore Stegmayer, Christie Road orchardist.

The trainees are Albert Kinsler, Oldtown; James Browning, Flintstone; Richard Lippold, Christie Road; Joseph Miltenberger, Bean's Cove Road; Rennis Pollock, North Branch; Richard Gano, Piney; in Garrett County; and Edward Barton, Pinto. They meet every Wednesday night and the first and third Monday nights at Fort Hill.

Mr. House said there are openings in the class for other veterans who desire such on-the-farm training.

Fair Age Employment Bill Is Introduced By Delegate Reed

A bill, known as the Fair Age Employment Law, was introduced in the House of Delegates at Annapolis yesterday by Del. Lester B. Reed (R-Allegany) and referred to the House Labor Committee.

Del. Reed explains that the measure, patterned after a similar bill proposed in New York state, tends to end discrimination in employment because of age, and specifically deals with persons between the ages of 28 and 55, in firms of five or more employees.

The legislator said he believes the measure is needed as a means of providing more employment opportunities for capable aging workers in the state.

Public Welfare Assistance Is Cited In Report

Old age assistance was given to 625 residents of Allegany County during the month of December 1956, according to a statistical report prepared by the Maryland State Department of Public Welfare.

Total payments for assistance were $27,069.03, an average grant of $43.31. Some 16 applications were received during the month.

In Garrett County 218 persons received assistance, the total payments amounting to $9,230.78 or an average of $42.34 per individual.

The number of families assisted in this county was 334, and the number of children was 948. The total payment for assistance was $29,851.30, or an average grant of $89.38 per family.

Some 106 Garrett County families were assisted, including 318 children. The total payment was $8,855.86, or $83.55 average grant for each family.

In Allegany County 26 needy blind persons were assisted and the payments totaled $1,308.56 or $50.33 per person. Five individuals were assisted in Garrett County with payments totaling $298.75 or $59.75 per person.

The report shows that 334 permanently and totally disabled persons of Allegany County were assisted during December with payments totaling $15,154.65 or an average grant of $45.37.

Garrett County had a total of 95 persons who were given assistance, payments were $4,206.47 or $44.28 per individual. Some 85 cases of general public assistance were reported in Allegany County, and the payments totaled $4,093.37, or an average of $48.16 per case.

Garrett County had a total of 17 such cases and the payments were $764.17 or an average grant of $44.95 per case. Finally the payments were made for the care of 54 foster children in Allegany County, a total payment for foster care being $2,721.15 or an average payment of $50.39 per child.

Garrett had 25 foster children who received care with a total of $1,209.28 or an average payment of $52.37 per child.

Increases obtained in such a manner would be for all teachers. The mere appropriation of additional state money to the political subdivisions carries no guarantee of salary increases in those places where teachers now are paid in excess of what would be the newly prescribed minimums.

"State minimums are not meant to govern the total salaries of teachers. Their salaries should be built from the foundations of the minimums and those civil divisions which are paying from their own funds substantially more than the state-provided bases are meeting their proper obligations."

"Surprised" By Bill

The governor told Boone "no one was more surprised" than he upon learning of Culotta's bills.

He referred Boone to his budget message for his attitude on the teachers pay and sales tax.

"I consistently have urged that the constant pressure for greater state financial support be brought to an end," the governor said in his message Jan. 18.

"I do not at this time favor the much discussed increase in the retail sales tax or any other tax increases... which would produce considerably more revenue than the state needs for the services to the people for which it is responsible."

He needs 7 million dollars to balance his proposed budget and recommended it come from a state tax on cigarettes and cigars.

At about the same time Boone was receiving the governor's letter, he and 49 other delegates introduced a bill identical to Culotta's for the teachers' pay raise.

They had no proposal for financing it. Six Republican delegates were among the sponsors.

Test Loading Of Sewer May Begin Today

Flood Work Resumed Above City Bridge

The F. J. Albrecht Company this week will begin loading a section of an existing sanitary sewer in the old C & O Canal bed here, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

Filt will be placed to the required elevation to determine whether the sewer, as is, will carry the anticipated load brought about by the filling of the canal bed in the area of the Mill Race pumping station.

May Be Left In

If the pipe is not affected by the load, the test fill can be left in place. If it moves, additional protection will have to be provided.

The "loading" procedure is to begin today or tomorrow.

In another phase of the flood control job, Hazelwood Flood Control Company crews resumed work yesterday upstream of the Baltimore Street bridge.

Work was interrupted by high water in mid-December.

Pumps were busy yesterday removing water from the area protected by a coffer dam and several days of work will be required to remove material washed inside the dam by the high waters.

To Push Project

The firm is expected to expedite the work upstream of the bridge so work on the left side of the creek can be completed before high water hits in early spring.

Downstream, Hazelwood crews have been pushing construction and has poured one section of toe wall near the bridge and is ready to pour another section.

Concrete work is fairly well done downstream, at a point near the C & O Canal locks, where an unprotected section of wall threatened to cave in during the mid-December high waters.

Boulevard Hotel Apartments Sold

The Boulevard Hotel Apartments on Kelly Boulevard near the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have been sold, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Ann Waingold and Louis Waingold, her husband, sold the property to Walter E. Smith and Thelma G. Smith, his wife. Mr. Smith operates the Pema Stone Cumberland Company at 133 Pica Street.

Mothers Marchers Make Report

Among the first to report their collections in last night's county-wide Mothers March for funds to fight polio were three volunteers who worked the Centre Street area and collected $123. Robert A. Reinhard, LaVale, president of Potomac Valley Lions Club is shown checking the return. Susan Keyser, Mrs. John Horchler and Mrs. Eugene Keyser are the marchers shown.

Mothers March Total Showing Steady Climb

Pennies, nickels, dollars and even some checks began accumulating at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children headquarters last night, faster than the counters could tally and wrap.

Mothers Marchers from all parts of the city and county braved murky, cold and rainy weather in an effort to raise as much as they could for the fund to call on their neighbors and much money as possible in the final and major phase of the March of Dimes.

By 10 p. m. tabulators reported a return of $2,868.39, but at 11 p. m. the total had climbed to $3,906.94. Last year's final county total was $7,638.02.

This report, workers said, represented only part of the county, and returns were expected to come in and be tabulated during the night.

Mrs. Lester McGill, county chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, expressed their gratitude to all the volunteers who worked on the Mothers March and to all who welcomed them and contributed.

Louis Shinnamon, general campaign chairman, said he was "amazed" at the returns. There has never been any doubt that the women can get a job done, he said, and if there was, last night's drive was a conclusive example.

The march was conducted in all parts of the county between 7 and 9 o'clock and most solicitors were able to cover their areas in less than an hour. Mr. Shinnamon said he had no idea how many marchers participated, but "there must have been hundreds, by the way they turned out."

He congratulated the Mothers March chairman and expressed his gratitude to all who participated. He noted that any persons who expected to contribute and may have been missed or was not at home, may mail gifts to "March of Dimes, Cumberland, Md."

Firemen Answer Calls

City firemen received two calls yesterday afternoon.

East Side got a call at 2:02 p. m. and went to 9 Ridgeway Terrace, where a fire had damaged a cellar door and the sill. Firemen said the occupant of the house had been burning a rubber pillow which came in contact with the door and scorched it.

In the other fire, South End was called to 1018 Virginia Avenue where a blue fire was checked. Minor damage was reported. The call was received at 2:27 p. m.

Keegan Says Parking Unit Possible Without Bonds

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday the City of Cumberland can get a parking center without a bond issue.

He said the Pigeon Hole parking people are ready, and have been ready, to build a parking center in from 90 to 120 days and that the full faith and credit of the city need not be involved.

The firm, he added, is ready to give the city "one of the best deals in the United States."

Mr. Keegan discussed the plan yesterday with D. E. McDowell, a representative of the Minute Parking Company, Pittsburgh.

The parking facility, Mr. Keegan added, should be in operation before construction of the new Baltimore Street bridge begins.

He said the bridge construction will mean that rigid traffic regulations must be put into effect.

Mr. Keegan has been negotiating for some time with the parking center firm. One of the proposals calls for a multi-storied parking center opposite City Hall.

The Chamber of Commerce has questioned the City Hall Plaza plan, saying it might be "putting all the eggs in one basket" if all parking revenues had to be pledged to finance the parking center.

In meetings with the Mayor and Council, the Chamber's Office Street Parking committee has urged the creation of a Cumberland Parking Authority, which would be authorized to take over the entire program.

The ordinance is currently being revised to make it more attractive to investors, since the city is not willing to pledge the full faith and credit of the city in view of construction obligations.

Fire Association Will Meet Sunday

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Bids will be received for the association's annual smoker, which will be conducted Saturday, April 27, and the site will be determined. The past two years the smoker has been held in Lonaconing and before that time was staged in Barton.

George Comp of Deer Park, association president, will name ways and means and entertainment committees for the April smoker.

Dentists To Meet

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society will hold a business meeting Wednesday, February 6, at 6:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club.

Industry Drive Reported By Local Chamber

Director Applicants Being Interviewed

Although the position of industrial promotion director has not been filled, the work of attracting new industry to the Cumberland area has been "vigorously performed," according to a special report to the membership of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The report, mailed by the manager yesterday afternoon, said that in recent weeks two prospects have been developed, another has been invited to consider this area, and an invitation is being prepared for a fourth.

These developments, the Chamber report said, have occurred since November 1, 1956. (This was the date when Albert H. Hargreaves resigned the post of director of industrial relations director after four years of service, during which Pittsburgh Plate built its plant here.)

May Locate Here

Of the two "live prospects," the report said, one is a nationally known concern whose securities are owned by the public, and whose sales have increased from $17 million to $80 million since 1946.

The firm has four manufacturing plants, all owned by the company, and several leased distribution centers. It is "seriously considering" establishing a distribution center here which would employ 75 persons at the start.

It is currently preparing blueprints and specifications for a building, to be submitted to the Chamber. Through contacts with investment bankers, made by the Chamber's Industrial Promotion Committee, "it seems a reasonable likelihood that the cost of construction of the building can be fully financed, the report said, if the final decision is to locate here."

Data Is Compiled

The second prospect, for nearly a century a family-owned concern, is outstanding in its field, said the report. A manufacturing concern, it would employ "a minimum of 200 persons to start."

It requires a one-floor building of 50,000 square feet and from 10 to 12 acres of land. The Chamber, office has compiled statistical data and other pertinent information which, with the cooperation of a utility company, has been included in a formal presentation to the prospect.

In the past two months, the report said, the service records of 20 candidates for the post of industrial director have been carefully examined. Eight have been personally interviewed and preparations have been made to interview two more.

Progress in the selection of a new director, members were told, is being made slowly, but the Chamber is proceeding carefully to make certain that a capable man is obtained to do the job.

"Meanwhile," the report concluded, "the general membership of the Chamber, and the community at large, may be assured that the Chamber is acting in the best interests of the area in seeking to promote its economic welfare."

Office Is Readied

Carpenters are working on the addition of a fourth office to the sixth floor suite of the Chamber of Commerce. The new office will be the quarters for the industrial promotion director when he is selected, the manager explained.

The four offices will be connected "in the interests of efficiency and better liaison between the Chamber of Commerce officers and directors and the industrial promotion department," he added.

Pigeons Get National Prize

Pigeons from the loft of C. A. Smith and Son, LaVale, won national awards at the Grand National Pigeon Show held last week in the Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City, N. J., under sponsorship of the National Pigeon Association.

Some 3,500 pigeons were exhibited by 330 fanciers from 41 states, Canada and Hawaii. Over 500 fanciers from 31 states attended.

The Smiths exhibited two varieties in the exhibition homer classes. They were awarded eight first prizes and the trophy for the grand champion exhibition homer.

In the show pen racer classes on 12 entries the awards were as follows:

Three first awards, five second awards, three third and one fourth award. The trophy for best opposite sex to the champion was won by a Smith bird. The trophy awarded for the best display of show pen racers was won by the Smith entries which scored 25 points to 19 points by the next exhibitors. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith attended the show and Mr. Smith acted as judge for 21 other varieties on exhibit.
